Freedom Fellowship meets at Valor Hall

By DAVID SNOW

The Eagle Post

One of the newer Christian fellowship organizations in this area will be on hand at the fifth annual Spring into Summer festival in an effort to make itself better known.

Freedom Fellowship meets every Saturday at 6:30 p.m. at Valor Hall, and is an interdenominational Christian group. According to pastor Jeff Harkin, the organization will have a booth supplying bottled water and a diaper-changing area.

"We'll have a bunch of T-shirts," Harkin said. "Because of our sponsorship, they're going to allow us to give away a couple of front-row seat tickets for the concert Saturday evening."

The tickets will be given away through Hopkinsville radio station WVVR (100.3 FM), known as "The Beaver." Award-winning singer/songwriter Phil Vassar will be the headline act on May 26, following the opening act featuring local band Junction 41 at 7 p.m.

"We do this a lot in our communities," Harkin said. "We do this all the time up in White Plains, where my church is up there."

Freedom Fellowship meetings feature a lot of different activities, including singing, teaching and praying.

Harkin is the author of the book "Grace Plus Nothing," which talks about the generally-held concept that grace must come through performance, rather than using God's grace as a motivation in life.

"People feel like they have to perform well enough in order for God to bless them or accept them," Harkin said. "Really, the Bible teaches that we never have performed well enough. The way I write it is: We are in an acceptance-based performance kind of relationship with God. In other words, the acceptance comes first, and that comes through the cross."

"Grace Plus Nothing" is available through Amazon.com or on Kindle.

Harkin is also the pastor for Life Point Church in White Plains in Hopkins County.

For more information about Freedom Fellowship, visit the organization's booth at Spring into Summer or call Harkin at 270-724-0354.

For more information about the Spring into Summer festival on May 26-27, visit the website www.springintosummerfest.com.

They must have a letter of reference from a teacher and a 250-word essay about any of a list of provided topics.

Lockdown at SCES Thursday morning

By DAVID SNOW

The Eagle Post

South Christian Elementary School was briefly under lockdown Thursday morning after two adults were involved in a fight on campus.

Sheriff's deputies used school security video and witness reports to gather information about the incident.

According to the citation issued by the Christian County Sheriff's Department and information from Christian County Public Schools communications director Heather Aubin, around 10:45 a.m., Darius Durrell Phillips, 23, of Oak Grove said something to Dauane Hoist of Oak Grove, and Hoist smiled back at Phillips. Phillips then allegedly hit Hoist, and the two began to fight.

School officials immediately put the school under lockdown for the students' safety and called law enforcement officials.

During the altercation, the two men bumped into SCES staff member Ruby Ellis, who was escorting about 20 kindergarten students who were also in the path of the two men. Parents and teachers eventually were able to pull the two men apart. Hoist went to the hospital to be checked.

Sheriff's deputies arrested Phillips at 11:41 a.m. on the charges of assault (second degree), a Class C felony; wanton endangerment (first degree), a Class D felony; and disorderly conduct (second degree), a Class B misdemeanor.

Phillips was held at Christian County Jail under a $25,000 bond.

Hensley said that he had served in the military and thought that being a chef would be a great job, so he studied the culinary arts and, after serving 25 years in the military, he began teaching it in 2002.

"All of my students are doing the food (at the luncheon)," he said. "They came in this morning and did it, and they're going to clean it up. I think they

Kindergarteners take next step with graduation

By DAVID SNOW

The Eagle Post

Another spring ceremony, and another class of graduates is ready to make its mark on the world. They will likely make their marks with those large-sized pencils, but be warned, world — the Class of 2024 is coming!

Pembroke Elementary School held its annual kindergarten graduation ceremony on Monday at the Pembroke Ruritan Community Center.

This year, 76 students took their first steps towards first grade and the “big school” experience.

Man created, then woman... creation story is fascinating

You notice how most folks call God, He. It's highly unlikely that God has a gender. Women claim just because God created man first does not make man superior. You know what their story is, of course, that God created man first and immediately recognized some serious design flaws. The inferior prototype so to speak, slightly useful but not the multipurpose machine that woman came to be. He then went back to the drawing board, since there were no "computer aided drafting" (CAD) back then, and created a design that was perfect, thus, woman came on the scene with her enhanced performance characteristics.

Brothers and sisters, we sincerely need to move on with this story. In short, somehow man finagled around and was permitted to stay on the planet ... barely.

The story of creation is definitely a fascinating and beautiful one and drives the point home of how God created all the beautiful creatures and varieties of everything finally culminating in the creation of man and then arguably the ultimate being — no, not man's best friend, the dog — rather woman.

Okay, let's start from the very, very, beginning. Wait, in the case of God there was never a beginning. It is not conceivable by us mere mortals that anything did not have a beginning, no startup date.

Yes, I say this but in the back of my mind I ask myself, "How can this be?" There is always wonder and comfort in the fact that God has always been and will always be. I suppose we gauge longevity by our shelf life, not God's.

"In the beginning of the physical world God created the heavens and the earth." This is conclusive that He created the heavens first then the earth, rather than vice versa.

Creation started when God formed our physical world. He defined time and dimension for mankind's benefit as real measurements on real property which was a mass of matter. God had no need of a physical world other than for a habitat for mankind. It is my belief that everything that is will end and the physical world will vanish when it is no longer needed.

I believe this is what happened. God caused the physical world to occur which was a sphere of matter. God then caused the "Big Bang" to occur. Whether it was God's nuclear reactor, perhaps like our sun or by other means, who knows. At any rate, it exploded and formed the universe. It is not important how — only that it did. When the surface of the earth cooled enough to support life which took several billion years, refinement began. Several billion years does not really have any significance if time is not measured, as in God's case.

"God created the heavens and the earth" — stage one complete.

This "Big Bang" occurred about 5 billion years ago. The first verse of the Holy Bible states, "In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth." This was the creation of our universe. This was the beginning of our physical world. This was the blank canvas that God created from.

The physical world has boundaries — whether mankind will ever have the abilities to reach them or not. They are unlike the steel stakes placed by a surveyor designating a parcel of real property. The transition from physical to spiritual is like water evaporating into air. It's like an old soldier that just fades away. Once again, God has no need of a physical world. After mankind is gone it will also cease to exist.

One day we, mankind, will understand the mysteries that have avoided our understanding for so long and see the big picture displaying conception, birth, life, death, infinity as one normal life cycle created by God and enjoyed by men and of course the favored ones — women.

World peace will never exist. If you believe that a strong evil force exists, then you must believe the battle will go to the wire. Everything we have experienced is only a prelude to the battle yet to be fought. We will be on the side of good or the side of evil. There will be no in between.

I dedicate this article to my sister, Carolyn, who departed this life in 1998. She was a devoted believer in the sanctity of life.

Parenting challenges never seem to end

We have friends who saw their daughter get married this past May. Before the parents of the bride left the church sanctuary, they faced each other and gave a "high five."

Afterwards, I told the father of the bride that if he thought his parenting days were over, he was sorely mistaken.

That fact impacted us last week. As we mentioned in this space last Wednesday, our 33-year-old son was in the midst of a seven-day, 700-mile bicycle ride to benefit friends who are wanting to adopt a child from Nicaragua.

While our son was on the ride, my wife volunteered to help his wife with taking care of their four children. We're not sure which was the more daunting challenge — riding 700 miles or taking care of four children (ages 10, 9, 16 months and 4 months).

Thankfully the ride from Nashville to Ormond Beach, Fla., went without a hitch, and $14,500 was raised for the adoption effort of a couple who our son and his wife befriended when they lived in Owensboro.

Perhaps the most encouraging aspect of the story was the number of riders who joined them as they went along. Three started out from Nashville, but as they entered Florida as many as 100 riders were with them for portions of the journey.

The day after the race, our son wrote on Facebook that he was ready for another 100 mile ride that day. That's an idea that the rest of the family would veto quickly.

A boy was taking care of his baby sister while his parents went to town shopping. He decided to go fishing and he had to take her along.

"I'll never do that again!" he told his mother that evening. "I didn't catch a thing!"

"Oh, next time I'm sure she'll be quiet and not scare the fish away," his mother said.

The boy said, "It wasn't that. She ate all the bait."

Obama's 'evolution' on marriage is sad day for nation

Is President Obama's "evolution" on same sex marriage finally complete? His call for the legalization of same-sex marriage last week is an historic and tragic milestone. An incumbent president has now called for a transformation of civilization's central institution. And yet, no observer of this president could be surprised. The arrival of this announcement was only a matter of time.

As The New York Times reported on May 10, "Advisers say now that Mr. Obama had intended since early this year to define his position sometime before Democrats nominate him for re-election in September."

Previous news reports indicated that the 2012 platform for the Democratic Party would likely include a call for same-sex marriage. The pressure was on the White House, with the president caught in an awkward and embarrassing situation in which major figures on both sides believed that his public position did not reflect his true convictions.

In December of 2010, the president told Jake Tapper of ABC News, "My feelings about this are constantly evolving." Last October, he told George Stephanopoulos, "I'm still working on it." As Dan Amira of New York magazine summarized that comment, "President Obama won't say if he'll stop pretending to oppose gay marriage before the election."

In August of 2008, running for the White House, Obama said: "I believe that marriage is the union between a man and a woman. Now, for me as a Christian — for me — for me as a Christian, it is also a sacred union. God's in the mix."

In February of 1996, running for state office in Illinois, Obama signed a letter to a homosexual newspaper in Chicago that included the statement, "I favor legalizing same-sex marriages, and would fight efforts to prohibit such marriages." So, his statement today puts him back where he was on the record as recently as 1996 — calling for the legalization of same-sex marriage.

The president's position since 2008 has been untenable. Having endorsed same-sex marriage when running for office in 1996, he evidently changed his position as he ran for the U.S. Senate in 2004 and for president in 2008. Since then, his language and his actions have been contradictory.

He has said that he opposes same-sex marriage, but he ordered his attorney general not to defend the Defense of Marriage Act. Officials in his administration openly advocated same-sex marriage, even as the president dropped hint after hint that he did as well. The president found himself facing the fact that he would have to declare himself one way or the other on the question as the 2012 election unfolded — so now we know.

Why now? The Washington Post reports that he was under intense pressure from many Democrats, including his major campaign fundraisers. According to the paper, one in six of the president's major "bundlers," or fundraisers, is a self-identified homosexual.

The immediate pressure came after Vice President Joe Biden said that he was "completely comfortable" with same-sex marriage. The vice president's statement on the issue delivered full support for same-sex marriage. The next day, Secretary of Education Arne Duncan followed Biden's lead.

The president was under intense pressure within his party, but the issue quickly turned into an issue of presidential character. No one made this point more directly than Ruth Marcus of The Washington Post. "Same-sex marriage is turning into a test of character and leadership for President Obama," she wrote. "Does he favor it, or doesn't he? In the wake of Vice President Biden's remarks supportive of marriage equality, the continued presidential equivocation makes Obama look weak and evasive."

She wasn't finished. "The longer Obama waits, the worse he looks. The president's first stall tactic, that he is 'evolving' on the issue, doesn't cut it anymore. Even Darwin would have lost patience by now. His second approach, the not-gonna-make-news-for-you-today cop-out, has also worn thin. If you wonder whether the president actually opposes same-sex marriage, doesn't evolution imply change? And if you think perhaps he's still conflicted — well, that's hardly an advertisement to be leader of the free world. At this point, Obama's reticence is looking cowardly."

The president could probably survive that kind of criticism from conservatives, but not from liberals. Clearly, he had to clarify his position.

The president chose to make his statement in an interview with ABC. His statement was really not a serious argument for the legalization of same-sex marriage, however. He spoke of the issue as if it is a matter of personal taste. He told ABC's Robin Roberts that "at a certain point I've just concluded that for me personally it is important for me to go ahead and affirm that I think same-sex couples should be able to get married."

He made his statement the day after voters in North Carolina voted overwhelmingly in support of defining marriage as the union of one man and one woman — the 30th state to have taken such action.

Honesty is the best policy, and the president has made his position clear. He is again for what he was until today against, but that was only after he was for it before. The American people will have to unravel that as an issue of character. He is hardly the first politician to find himself holding to an "evolving" position on an issue of fundamental importance. Most politicians, however, do their best to avoid the kind of situation in which the president found himself on this issue.

The fact remains that the president of the United States has now put himself publicly on the line for the radical redefinition of marriage, subverting society's most central institution.

This is a sad day for America, but the president's statement was not a surprise. Given the political context he faced, the only question was when the president would make his public statement of endorsement for the legalization of same-sex marriage. We now know the answer to that question.

This is a sad day for marriage, but now we know the truth.

City Council approves stormwater fee measure

By DAVID SNOW
The Eagle Post

The Oak Grove City council on Tuesday narrowly passed the second reading of an ordinance establishing a stormwater management fee.

The ordinance was amended before the vote to allow a 20-percent discount of the fee for non-single-family residences and businesses that already have stormwater plans in effect.

The vote on the ordinance was 3-3, with council members Bobby Combs, James McKnight and Randy Pierce voting in favor and council members Bea Burt, Janet Edwards and Tim Johnson voting against it. Mayor Dan Potter voted in favor of the ordinance to break the tie.

The ordinance passed by a narrow 3-2 vote at the council's May 1 meeting. Edwards, who voted against the ordinance on Tuesday, was absent from that meeting.

The fee, which will be added to residents' utility bills, is set at $3 for single-family residential properties and $3 for every 3,000 square feet of non-single-family residential areas. That money would go towards a stormwater management fund for the city, which would be used to implement a stormwater management program in accordance with the National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System.

Other actions taken at

Tuesday's Oak Grove City Council meeting included:

- The council voted 6-0 to approve the second reading of an ordinance amending the pay scale of several city positions. Potter said that he wanted to rethink combining the code enforcement officer position with the city building inspector position.
- The council voted 6-0 to approve the second reading of an ordinance repealing the city's synthetic drug ordinances, as the state legislature has passed a similar bill which would supersede the city ordinances.

- The council voted 6-0 to allow the National Processing Company (NPC) to process utility payments made by credit card at a cost to the city of $400. Scott Tyree, an account executive with Vantiv, the company working with the City of Oak Grove in this aspect, said there would be a $2.95 fee per customer per credit card transaction.

Having another company process the credit card transactions would save the city time and money, Potter said.

- The council voted 6-0 to keep Potter on the Logan Todd Regional Water Board until it saw fit to replace him in that capacity.
- Oak Grove Police Officer Victor Lynch was officially promoted to the rank of sergeant. Lynch and three other officers went through a stringent process to attain the sole open position of sergeant.

The next scheduled Oak Grove City Council meeting is at 6:30 p.m. on June 5 at City Hall.

Park

It's going to make the ground more valuable. We're going to try to work a deal with the owner of the rest of the property — 35 acres or so — to where we could get royalties out of it for making the property worth more."

Potter said he hopes to develop a business park at that location to take advantage of having the interstate and a truck stop so close at hand. He added that the interest from outside of the community for such a park has already been seen.

"People come into Oak Grove, and we don't have buildings already built for them," he said of those seeking the use of a business park. "They only want a 5,000- or 8,000-square-foot building, and we don't have it, so they just go immediately somewhere else."

The land is owned by Dennis Thomas of Cadiz. Potter said that Thomas has had the property since the 1990s and would like to encourage him to develop it with a mutually acceptable agreement.

"He's wanting to develop it, and this has been ongoing for 20 years," Potter said. "I think it's a perfect place, right there, for a little mini-park — some nice businesses and everything.

"We could establish it as a good business park — not an industrial park — with small- to moderate-sized buildings for more upscale electrical contractors and plumbers, things of that sort. I think it'll work."

OAK GROVE CITY COUNCIL

Oak Grove passes storm water fee

The Oak Grove City Council narrowly passed the second reading of an ordinance establishing a stormwater management fee on Tuesday.

The fee, which will be added to residents' utility bills, is $3 for single-family residential properties and $3 for every 3,000 square feet of non-single-family residential area. That money will go to a storm water management fund for the city, which would be used to implement a storm water management program in accordance with the National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System.

The ordinance was amended before the vote to allow a 20-percent discount of the fee for non-single-family residences and businesses that already have stormwater plans in effect.

ABRAMSON: He says development depends on education, amenities

charge of it, that challenge will keep Abramson occupied until Nov. 15.

In Abramson's address, he discussed two factors besides incentives that he believes attract or repel corporate investors.

First, the area must have an appropriate workforce, Abramson said. This takes serious preparation in elementary and secondary school, and in some industries, it requires many prospective workers to have associate or bachelor's degrees.

"I hear it everywhere I go: 'Tell me about your workforce,'" Abramson said.

This means all kinds of schools, including community colleges and universities, help shape the area's attractiveness, he said.

Second, investors care more and more these days about quality of life, Abramson said.

Besides the presence of quality schools for investors' children, this means recreation opportunities, such as places to hunt and boat and hike, Abramson said.

While talking to representatives from the nine counties in the Pennyriple, Abramson did not mention retail or culture.

The tax reform commission that Beshear appointed in February hopes to better equip counties for dealing with this challenge.

Beshear announced he wanted the commission to make the code "more responsive to the ups and downs of the economy" and better aligned with "the principles of fairness, business competitiveness and a 21st Century economy," according to a news release from his office.

In 2011, the national Tax Foundation ranked Kentucky 19th in the nation for its business tax climate and its rate of new job growth over the past year. A report by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce ranked it eighth nationwide for taxes and regulations and 12th for job growth over the past two years, according to Beshear's news release.

The tax reform commission, called the Blue Ribbon Commission, focuses on five areas of improvement: fairness, competitiveness, simplicity and compliance, elasticity and adequacy.

Most of the commission's 23 members are from the Louisville and Lexington areas. It has one member each from Paducah and Bowling Green.

DENNIS O'NEIL | KENTUCKY NEW ERA

Community members gather at the Christian County Historical Society building Monday morning as the Carnegie Library Board receives a $500,000 Community Block Development Grant from the state. The grant will go toward library renovations.

CARNEGIE: Restoration project receives $500,000 grant

The grant money will go toward construction needs such as installing bathrooms, laying carpet and installing an elevator in the library.

Sen. Joey Pendleton, D-Hopkinsville, attended the ceremony and thinks the library's renovation is a major step in revitalizing downtown.

"For what they are wanting to do with tutoring kids after school, that means a whole lot, especially in the neighborhood that (the library) is in," Pendleton said. "I think it is a win-win situation for us. I am so glad we are being able to preserve another building downtown."

South Christian holds Field Day for students

Students play a sponge relay race where the object is to soak up water in the sponge, then take turns passing it down the row. The team with the most water squeezed out at the end of the line wins.

Students work to pass this hula-hoop from one end of the line to the other without letting go of each others' hands.

SCES students race against each other, trying to keep the water in the spoon in this relay race.

South Christian Elementary School held a field day for its students on Thursday, allowing them free time to enjoy running and playing several games, including several relay races and other fun games. Tuesday was the last day of school for Christian County Public Schools.

FCHS track teams fare well at regional meet

By ADAM MAY

The Eagle Post

Hard work paid off for the Fort Campbell track teams on Friday, when the boys won the Region 1 Class 1A championship in Marshall County and the girls were runners-up.

The Falcons finished with 156 points, which was 30 better than second-place Murray High School. Murray won on the girls' side with 169 points, while the Lady Falcons were second with 127 points.

Jordan Gibbs-Francis helped the Falcons prevail by winning the region championship in the 200-meter dash with a time of 23.19 seconds and the 400-meter dash in 51.42 seconds.

Josh Clifton won the 110-meter hurdles with a time of 15.79 seconds, and Khalil Maynard won the 300-meter hurdles in 41.06. David Sahms brought home the region championship in the pole vault with a height of 13 feet, 6 inches, Trae Jones took the regional title in the shot put with a toss of 43 feet, 1 inch, and Jeremiah Davis won the championship in the discus throw with a throw of 119 feet, 4 inches.

The relay team of Nigel Davis, Malik Lambert, Clifton and Maynard also won the 4-by-400-meter relay.

On the girls' side, Shantel Calbreath won the 1,600-meter run with a time of 5 minutes, 52.84 seconds, Kelsi Avana took home the championship in the 100-meter hurdles with a time of 17:24 seconds, and the relay team of Avana, Jessicka Tucker, Victoria Sowards and Zaria Lambert won the 4-by-200-meter relay.

Paige Updike was the runner-up in the 3,200-meter run, T'kia Collins was second in the 100-meter hurdles and 300-meter hurdles, and Nia

Gibbs-Francis was second in the high jump.

The track teams will compete in the Class 1A state track meet at the University of Louisville. The Falcons head to the competition ranked first in the state, while the Lady Falcons are ranked 10th.

District 8 baseball, softball tourney fields set

By ADAM MAY

The Eagle Post

The details for the District 8 baseball and softball tournament were made official in a meeting of athletic directors last week.

All games in the baseball and softball tournaments will be held at Christian County High School.

The baseball tournament will begin at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday with No. 4 seed Fort Campbell facing top seed Hopkinsville.

Christian County, the No. 2 seed, will meet third-seeded University Heights Academy 30 minutes after the first game or at 8 p.m., whichever is later. The championship game is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. on May 23.

Falcon head coach Kenny Caver said the plan to prepare for the post-season is pretty simple.

"Play one pitch at a time," said Caver. "Get better every pitch. Our motto is next pitch; if we play the next pitch every time, we'll be just fine."

The Falcons won their first district game in nearly 20 years on post on April 18 when they defeated Hopkinsville 3-0 behind the stellar pitching of senior Pedro Hernandez. The Tigers got revenge the next night, 10-1, in Hopkinsville.

The softball tournament will begin at 5:30 p.m. on May 22 with top seed Christian County playing No. 4 seed Fort Campbell.

University Heights Academy, the No. 2 seed, plays third-seeded Hopkinsville 30 minutes later or 7:30 p.m., whichever is later. The championship game is scheduled for 5:30 p.m. on May 23.

The Lady Falcons fell 15-0 in their only contest against Christian County this season on April 17 in Hopkinsville. It will be the first head coaching experience for Fort Campbell head coach Greg Spence, who took over mid-season.

Tickets for the tournaments are $5, and fans attending the games are asked to enter through the Glass Avenue entrance to Christian County High School.

Cunningham resigns post as boys' basketball coach

By ADAM MAY

The Eagle Post

For the fifth time in the last six years, Fort Campbell High School is looking for a new boys' basketball coach.

Head coach John Cunningham resigned after the season, and the school is now taking applications.

There was no set timetable on when a head coach might be named.

"I'm just taking a break and catching my breath, looking at my options," Cunningham told the Kentucky New Era. "I could be involved with the program again."

Cunningham took over the program from Shawn Berner to begin the 2010-11 campaign and compiled a two-year record of 6-43.

The Falcons have been led by Amy Gammons, Matt Wallace, Berner and Cunningham in the last five years and only Wallace has won a game against a District 8 opponent during that time.

Gammons was the last coach to compile a winning record, when Fort Campbell went 14-8 in the 2007-08 season.

Cunningham also resigned as the boys' soccer coach before last season, when Paulette Sahms took over those duties.

Baseball, softball close seasons

By ADAM MAY

The Eagle Post

The Fort Campbell baseball team looks to finish up the regular season on a positive note, while the softball team looks toward the post-season.

The baseball Falcons dropped both games of a double header to Community Christian of Paducah on Saturday, 8-4 and 11-1.

Junior Sam Colt took the loss on the mound after giving up two runs in the first inning and three in the second. The Falcons scored three runs in the sixth to make the score 6-4, but they could never get any closer.

In the second game, Alex Strecker started the game and took the loss on the mound. CCHS scored two runs in the first and third innings and five in the fourth.

The Falcons were able to get one run scored in the fifth inning on a Cyle Jay hit, but the game ended on the mercy rule when they couldn't score again. The loss followed a 9-8 loss to Livingston Central in eight innings and a 12-10 loss to Crittenden County.

FCHS didn't go winless last week, however, as the Falcons beat Lyon County 8-4 Monday.

The Lady Falcon softball team dropped both ends of a double-header 17-0 and 14-2 to McLean County on Saturday. Fort Campbell won't play again until the District 8 softball tournament Tuesday against Christian County at Lady Colonel Field.

HHS to host football camp June 22

Hopkinsville High School will host a football camp on June 22 from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. for students in grades 2 through 8 run by head coach Marc Adam Clark, the Tiger coaching staff and some of the returning football players.

The camp will be held at the HHS football blockhouse. The cost for the camp is $30 for early registration (by June 1) and $35 for late registration. Walk-ups are invited for this camp, but only the pre-registered campers will be guaranteed a T-shirt.

This is a non-contact camp, where campers will learn blocking and tackling techniques against sleds and tackling dummies. Other skills taught at this camp include proper offensive stance, proper ball handling, running mechanics, passing mechanics, proper defensive stance and defensive fundamentals.

Campers will be provided a pizza and Gatorade for lunch. During breaks, campers will be provided water, and Gatorade and granola bars will be available for purchase.

Campers need to wear shorts, a T-shirt, cleats or tennis shoes and have snack money on hand.

Football camp flyers were distributed to schools around Christian County before the end of the school year. Those interested in taking part in the camp may pick up a flyer at the Oak Grove Community Center, the Hopkinsville Recreation Center and the Boys and Girls Club in Hopkinsville.

For more information, call HHS assistant coach Matthew Mercado at 270-498-0954.

Abraham Tested
From Genesis 22
God: "Abraham! Abraham: "Here I am."
God: "Take your son, your only son, Isaac, whom you love, and go to the region of Moriah. Sacrifice him there as a burnt offering on one of the mountains I will tell you about."
Abraham traveled for 3 days with Isaac and two servants until he saw the place in the distance. Leaving the servants he took Isaac and continued on to the place he said they would worship and then come back. The wood for the burnt offering was placed on Isaac. Abraham carried the fire and the knife.
When Isaac asked about the lamb for the offering, Abraham told him that the Lord would provide. Reaching the place God told Abraham about, he built an altar and arranged the wood. He bound his son, placed him on the wood and raised his knife to slay Isaac.
Just then an angel of the Lord called out to Abraham from heaven and told him not to slay his son. Abraham had proved that he feared the Lord.
Looking up, Abraham saw a ram caught by his horns in a thicket. Abraham sacrificed the ram as a burnt offering instead of his son. Abraham called the place THE LORD WILL PROVIDE.

Fundraiser helps support troops

AUSA hosts golf tourney on post

By DAVID SNOW

Golfer Tom Spenard putts toward the hole while Derek Lee and Jeff Bovarnick watch.

The Association of the United States Army hosted a fundraising golf tournament at Cole Park Commons on post on Friday that featured two state-of-the-art helicopters for public view.

AUSA calls itself “The Voice of the Soldier,” supporting Army soldiers and their families as well as Army retirees.

“On the legislative front, we are very busy in Washington, D.C., as a professional lobbying force for benefits,” said Robert L. Huffman, the president of the AUSA Tennessee/Kentucky Chapter. “Right now, we are addressing the retirement program, the proposal to increase Tri-Care. We want to hold those costs down on our Army retirees and make sure that if there is an increase, that it is not tied to medical inflation, that it’s tied to COLA (cost of living adjustment).”

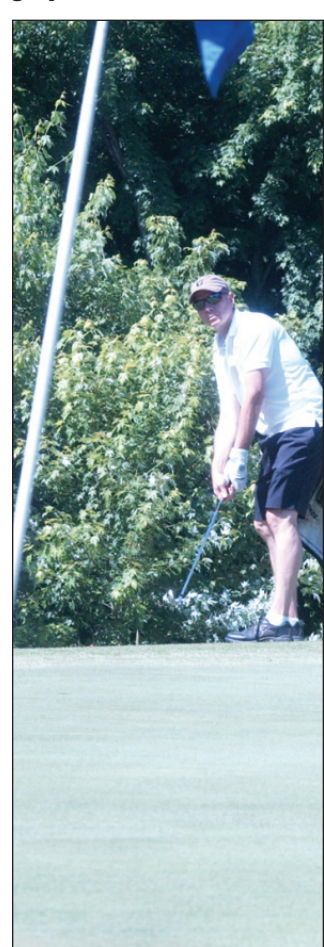

Huffman said that the AUSA Tennessee/Kentucky Chapter presented scholarships on May 7. Those scholarships are just a portion of what the proceeds from the golf tournament will help fund.

“We provide funding support to The Fisher House Wounded Warrior Project and any type of soldier program that needs funding,” Huffman said. “We had a fabulous turnout at the tournament. That’s a great thing about our communities. Our communities support the Army, and the Army supports those who support them. It’s been great.”

For more information about AUSA, visit the website www.ausa.org and search the “Chapter” link. The Tennessee/Kentucky Chapter — local to this area — can be found by clicking on the state of Tennessee.

Officers in the Tennessee/Kentucky Chapter include first vice president Sheryl Ellis, Kentucky state president T.C. Freeman and Tennessee state president and chapter treasurer Karen Stanley.

Notice To

Our Advertisers
Counterfeit or fake checks are being used in a growing number of fraudulent schemes. Check overpayment scams target consumers selling cars or other valuable items through classified ads or online auction sites. Unsuspecting sellers get stuck when scammers pass off bogus cashiers checks, corporate checks, or personal checks. If you're selling something, don't accept a check for more than the selling price, no matter how tempting the offer or how convincing the story, especially if it is from an out of town buyer. Ask the buyer to write the check for the correct amount. If the buyer refuses to send the correct amount, return the check. Don't send the merchandise. If you think you've been targeted by a counterfeit check scam, report it to the Federal Trade Commission. Visit www.ftc.gov or call 1-877-FTC-HELP (1-877-382-4357) for more details or to report suspected fraud. This is a public service announcement brought to you by this newspaper.
